

Dependent Clauses

- Choose the dependent clause in the sentence and tell us whether it is a time clause or conditional clause. For example:

Question: After I have eaten my dinner, I will go out with my friends.

Answer: After I have eaten my dinner - Time Clause

Q1. If John has time, he will go to the beach.

.....

Q2. Stephanie will cook dinner for herself, unless someone invites her out to a restaurant.

.....

Q3. When an earthquake occurs, many buildings are destroyed.

.....

Q4. Since I was a boy, I have spoken English as my first language.

.....

Q5. Shane always does his homework before he goes out with his friends.

.....

Q6. If Daphne solves the crime, she will be very happy.

.....

Q7. You are allowed into a country except if you don't have a passport.

.....

Q8. The meeting starts at 7 o'clock.

.....

Q9. If Stephen doesn't have enough money, how can he pay for the things he needs?

.....

Q10. Shaggy likes to play with his dog when he gets home.

.....

ANSWERS

- A1. If John has time - Conditional Clause
- A2. Unless someone invites her out to a restaurant - Conditional clause
- A3. When an earthquake occurs - Time clause
- A4. Since I was a boy - Time clause
- A5. Before he goes out with his friends - Time clause
- A6. If Daphne solves the crime - Conditional clause
- A7. Except if you don't have a passport - Conditional clause
- A8. At 7 o'clock - Time clause
- A9. If Stephen doesn't have enough money - Conditional clause
- A10. When he gets home - Time clause