

- Fill in the gaps using the words what, who, whom or whose. In sentences that use 'who' or 'whom' sometimes you could use either word but sometimes you can only use one or the other; you must decide if only one is correct or if both are correct.

- Q1. He showed me ..... he wrote in the letter.
- Q2. She has a sister ..... works in this office.
- Q3. I saw the man to ..... you sent the letter.
- Q4. I saw the man ..... you sent the letter to.
- Q5. They are the people ..... car was stolen.
- Q6. He doesn't like the man ..... house is next to his.
- Q7. We spoke to the woman ..... you recommended for the job.
- Q8. You have to ask permission from the teacher ..... teaches you.
- Q9. I told him ..... he said.
- Q10. We are the people ..... house was robbed.

ANSWERS

- A1. He showed me what he wrote in the letter.
- A2. She has a sister who works in this office.
- A3. I saw the man to whom you sent the letter.
- A4. I saw the man who you sent the letter to.
- A5. They are the people whose car was stolen.
- A6. He doesn't like the man whose house is next to his.
- A7. We spoke to the woman who / whom you recommended for the job.
- A8. You have to ask permission from the teacher who teaches you.
- A9. I told him what he said.
- A10. We are the people whose house was robbed.